

INSTRUCTOR PROFILE

DANIEL HOLMBERG

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Daniel Holmberg is an electrical safety instructor for NTT Workforce Development Institute with a strong technical and training background. He began his electrical education and career in 1995, earning a Masters License and State Contractors License. He is experienced in residential, commercial and industrial applications with multi-million dollar companies and small businesses. Dan began training electricians in application and safety in 2007.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

NTT Electrical Safety Instructor. Lead electrical safety instructor for some of NTT's largest clients.

Noble Enterprises Electrical Services LLC. 1988 to present — Owner/Manager

The Home Depot. 2007 to 2010 — Master Electrical Specialist and Training Coordinator

Clear Creek County Emergency Services. 1984 to 2000

Henderson Mine. 1976 to 2000 — explosives expert, electrician, shift maintenance, production, high voltage industrial electrician

EDUCATION AND TRAINING

C.A.P.E. (Colorado Association of Paramedic Education – 1983 to 1986

Graduated in upper 10% of class

Red Rocks Community College – Electrical Theory/Construction Contractor Trade School –
1995 to 1999, Masters License and State Contractors Certification